

Our on-campus student accommodation, also known as 'Res', combines modern architectural design with a safe, secure living environment. In between studies and on-campus activities, you'll be able to kick back in your room and enjoy some quiet time. You can also join in with the tight-knit Res community and hang out in the communal entertainment areas to blow off some steam. Living in Res will also give you the opportunity to bond with your fellow students and have a great time along the way.

Here are some of the reasons why it's cool to stay on our campus:

- Emeris Ruimsig residences have 24-hour security and access control to enhance the living experience for our students.
- Living on campus provides fewer worries about commuting to attend classes, which gives students enough time to rest.
- You are able to build relationships, learn from other students - whether formally or informally and have an opportunity to collaborate on projects or participate in fun on-campus activities.
- Loadshedding? No problem! Study with our on-residence generators and solar system, which ensures that you have a steady supply of power and Internet access.

Living on campus is an opportunity for students to connect with other students, whether as a new or returning student. It is also an opportunity to establish a home away from home for yourself.
